

Title: DoD Freight Payment Systems

Abstract: This class is designed at the following experience level for this topic (please circle) intermediate

The Department of Defense's Third Party Payment System (TPPS) for transportation is U.S. Bank or U.S. Bank is the Department of Defense's Third Party Payment System (TPPS) for Transportation Payments.

U.S. Bank Freight Payment is the Department of Defense's third party payment system (TPPS) for transportation payments. It automates the freight payment process to provide 100% pre-payment audit, improved processes, timely payment and big data collection. This session will give frequent users tips and tricks to improve daily use, while new users will gain the overview needed to hit the ground running. Join Jeff Lineberger, U.S. Bank Head of the Government Freight Payment Relationship Management, for this interactive training.

Organization: U.S. Bank

Website: www.usbpayment.com/freight-payment

Jeff Lineberger, a retired Air Force Lt Colonel, serves as U.S. Bank's Assistant Vice President for Government Relationship Management and leads the team who supports the Department of Defense, Department of State, Department of Health and Human Services and Department of Homeland Security and Department of Veterans Affairs.

Session POC: Joy Goodwin, Joy.goodwin@usbank.com, 612.436.6237
901 Marquette Ave, Suite 1800, Minneapolis, MN 55402

Jeff Lineberger, Assistant Vice President, U.S. Bank Corporate Payment Systems
p. 210.587.9416 | jeff.lineberger@usbank.com